The NORD Rare Disease Research Grants Program provides seed-money grants to qualified investigators for scientific and/or clinical research. The hope is that these studies ultimately will lead to new diagnostics, treatments, and/or cures for rare diseases.

We help with diagnostic testing assistance and travel assistance for clinical trials or consultation with disease specialists. We provide financial assistance to caregivers for much needed respite so they can attend a conference or simply take an evening away. We will help you find an existing patient advocacy group for your specific rare disease.
