How do I choose a solar company?

Here's a general outline of what to expect, from choosing a solar company to powering your home with solar energy. Compare quotes and sign a contract with a solar installer. Your installer conducts a site visit, either at your house or virtually. Your installer fills out and submits any required permits and documents and orders your equipment.

Do solar installers need a certification?

Certifications aren't necessarily required, but are a great way to weed out lower quality installers. The North American Board of Certified Energy Practitioners (NABCEP) offers an industry-leading certification program, while the PV Installation Professional (PVIP) Board Certification is the gold standard for solar installers.

The cost of commercial solar power has reached unprecedented affordability levels. With the potential to recoup up to 50% of commercial solar panel expenses through the USDA REAP grant, an additional 30% through the solar tax credit, and factoring in depreciation savings, many systems can yield a positive cash flow in under five years.
