How did the solar auction affect the price of solar power?

The Department of Energy & Climate Change (DECC) calculates that the clearing price for solar power projects in the auction was up to 58% lower than the price without competition. "The auction has driven down prices and secured the best possible deal for this new clean, green energy," commented Energy & Climate Change Secretary Ed Davey said.

Does solar PV cost a government bond?

Both show negative solar PV premiums ranging from -2% to -2.7%, which means that we calculate a financing cost for solar PV that is below the financing cost for the government, i.e., a 10-year government bond. While there may be cases where this is plausible, it is unlikely for Brazil and China.

How do risk premiums affect solar PV projects?

To understand the risk premiums of PV projects, we split up the CoC into a base rate, using a 10-year US government bond yields plus country risk premiums (Damodaran, 2022), and a solar PV premium. The results show that the CoC declines are mainly due to lower solar PV risk premiums whereas base rates have stayed roughly constant.

Are competitive auctions the new normal for renewables?

IEA. Licence: CC BY 4.0 Have the prices from competitive auctions become the "new normal" prices for renewables? Prices are nominal; higher values for onshore wind in 2017-18 result from the United Kingdom's contracts for difference (CfD) auction, and in 2021 are associated with a delayed project from the Jordanian auction held in 2014.
