

Just transition planning

Emerging economies face a climate finance gap, making private investment essential. A resource mobilisation for Just Transition needs proper planning, coordinated public-private funding and ...

The Just Transition Webinar series puts into action our Just Transition Agenda, making the transformation to a safer and more accessible urban mobility a reality. The Just Transition webinars will provide a space for ...

Investment facilitation platforms help align funding needs with available capital, and ensure balanced financing across infrastructure and social transition priorities, making the overall ...

More could be done to leverage our tools on skills anticipation, digital labour platforms, labour migration and just transition planning. Which ILO projects - in the region and in Serbia ...

Communication, social interaction, functional skills, and daily transitions often require just as much planning and attention as reading or math. One of the most important (and sometimes ...

At the heart of the Just Transition is the advancement of decent work, job creation and equitable outcomes for all. Integrating these priorities into energy transition plans of businesses ensures ...

The Just Energy Transition Investment Plan (JET-IP) identifies three cross-cutting areas--skill development, Mpumalanga's just transition, and the role of municipalities--as vital for ...

Climate Justice Alliance. "A Guide to Community-Driven Just Transition Planning." Climate Justice Alliance, 2021. Available at: Climate Justice Alliance A practical guide for ...

Coal-reliant South African provinces falling behind on just transition Issues ranged from conflicting mandates between the IPG, the recipient states and the MDBs over the shape and trajectory ...

The report addresses a key gap in climate policy planning, where socioeconomic impacts and just transition considerations often remain secondary due to limited capacity and resources. Many ...

(The Center Square) -- With coal mines and coal-fueled power plants continuing to move toward closure in Colorado, the state's Office of Just Transition is launching a program supporting the ...

Advocating for supportive policies Our net-zero ambition is dependent on the transition of the real-world economy and an effective public policy framework. That's why we want to put our data, expertise and global ...

Just transition planning

It tracks progress on just transitions globally, exploring how countries are implementing just transition principles into their Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) and Long-Term Low ...

This research focuses on the issue of employment which is one of the most important issues of the global just transition to a low-carbon economy. Through a quantitative assessment of the ...

In emerging economies, for metrics to play an effective role in driving progress for both the net zero transition and social justice, monitoring needs to get closer to the ground. Here, Rob ...

The International Sustainability Standards Board, Global Reporting Initiative and UK government have made new announcements that offer opportunities to make the just transition a core part ...

By examining both explicit and implicit references in nationally determined contributions and long-term low-emission development strategies, this report delivers useful insights through ...

Mr. Guterres mapped six "opportunity areas" to speed the transition: ambitious NDCs, modern grids and storage, meeting soaring demand sustainably, a just transition for workers and communities, trade reforms to broaden clean-tech ...

The Bonn Climate Conference 2025, held in June, focused on advancing discussions around Article 2.1(c) of the Paris Agreement, aiming to align global financial systems with climate ...

Rob Macquarie and Judith Tyson explore what it takes to go beyond high-level talk about climate finance allocation and use national and domestic policy frameworks to track how climate ...

It calls attention to the intersecting crises of ecological degradation, socio-economic vulnerability, and cultural erasure, while laying out a concrete pathway for land-centered just transition ...

Just transition planning

Web: <https://www.ekusenitours.co.za>