Solar stocks are falling again, but there are bright spots on the horizon. Solar energy stocks have had a rough two-week stretch on the market, with companies like JinkoSolar (JKS -2.47%) losing nearly one-third of its value and Canadian Solar (CSIQ -0.29%) dropping over 20%.

What happened to the solar energy industry in 2023?

There wasn't a lot of positive news in 2023 for the solar energy industry. Rising interest rates, higher labor costs, and regulatory changes all hit the industry hard, sending stocks lower across the board.

What happened to solar energy shares in 2024?

Shares haven't made much of a recovery in the first few days of trading in 2024. The biggest impact on solar energy companies in 2023 was interest rates. Higher rates make it more expensive to finance energy projects, and that cuts into margins for installers, putting pressure on the entire industry.

Is SolarEdge stock down again?

The shares proceeded to fall further in the day's opening minutes, before turning around, gaining back (almost) all their losses -- then retreating again. As of 11:15 a.m. ET, SolarEdge stock is down again, but only by 3.3%. At the same time, other companies in the solar industry are making big moves of their own.

Should you buy solar stocks in 2023?

Add it all up, and the market simply threw the solar industry out in 2023. It's understandable that so many headwinds are causing stocks to drop, but there are also some reasons to be optimistic. The solar industry overall continues to grow both in the U.S. and internationally. That'll be a tailwind for a long time to come.
