How long does a nuface Trinity battery last?

The blue lights cycle and you'll hear an ascending beep as it starts to charge. When it's fully charged the blue lights stay lit. The battery life is excellent. It lasts for two weeks if using it five times a week 20 minutes per session. Recently, Nuface have advised not to leave the Trinity on the charger. Instead, charge it fully every few weeks.

Are there cheaper alternatives to nuface activator gels?

You can use cheaper alternatives to the expensive - but lush - Nuface activator gels. And finally, I like the leave-on Nuface gels, especially the Aqua Gel. They happily replace my usual evening skincare products, but they're so very expensive! Boo. However, you can use cheaper alternatives and still get your best results.

Does nuface & red light soften êpey eye bags?

TIP: Nuface PLUS red light did soften these lines! De-puff, plump and smooth êpey eye bag areas. but the fine lines êpey eye bags remain. BONUS! A full but natural lip pout. Here's a quick review of the negatives I found whilst testing and trialling the Trinity. First, a few minor niggles.

How often should I take a nuface session?

And they vary in impact by individual too. Take before and after photos so you can see your progress because changes are subtle and gradual. After the 60-day start-up you can reduce your sessions to maintain your results. Nuface suggest two or three per week, but you may need them more frequently for your best results.

Prevent short circuits by protecting battery terminals. This can be done with the manufacturer's packaging or by covering with tape and placing in a separate bag.
